

AEROPLANE SHORT RUNWAY

No. of Scouts: 2

Equipment: 2 chairs. 1 compass

Scout One: I know it's a budget airline but you would have thought that they would have provided us with seat-belts for landing. Are we anywhere near Heathrow yet?

Scout Two: I'm not sure. I can see some lights so I think that we're over land. Bring it round again and let me have a better look. Gosh, I'm not too sure.

Scout One: I wish this plane had a few instruments that worked.

Scout Two: I have my compass. That might help. Oh dear, the needle seems to have broken off inside.

Scout One: I'm going for that runway down there. That could be it. Give me ten degrees of flap.

Scout Two: Ten degrees flap.

Scout One: This is going to be quite difficult. More flap.

Scout Two: More flap.

Scout One: Throttle down.

Scout Two: Throttle down.

Scout One: Cut engines.

Scout Two: Cut engines.

Scout One: Brakes. BRAKES. MORE BRAKES!

Scout Two: Brakes. BRAKES. MORE BRAKES!

Scout One: Phew. That was tight! That was such a short runway. I don't remember it being that short last time.

Scout Two: Me neither. And I don't remember it being three miles wide.
